Hilde Marie Holsen – Lazuli (cd & vinyl)

Acclaimed trumpeter/soundscape Hilde Marie Holsen follows up her critical hit mini-album debut, 'Ask', with the dark and mysterious 'Lazuli', a suite of four compositions inspired by visual art and named after minerals used to colour paint.

Hilde Marie Holsen's 'Lazuli' is an almost shockingly complete musical statement. It's as if an intense dialogue between the processes of composition and improvisation, and the interplay of sound and music, has led to the creation of experimental and often challenging work that nevertheless comes across as absolutely fully-formed; as inevitable, even. The result is a kind of monumentality, where to change just one element of the final text becomes impossible to contemplate, despite the whole thing remaining, at another level, entirely provisional and contingent, as immaterial as air itself, and perhaps closer to the idea of a sonic atmosphere than to most definitions of what constitutes music. 'Element' is significant, too, for Hilde Marie Holsen's implicit thematic touchstones for 'Lazuli' – the chemical minerals used to create pigment in paint, and the idea of painting with sound, together with her own intuitive methods of production, continually working and re-working her material until the art reveals itself – relate in some way to the notion of alchemy. If not quite turning base matter into gold, Holsen is taking the sounds made by her trumpet and refashioning them through a combination of breath and electronic processing, into vivid new life.

Bjørn Marius Hegge Trio - Assosiasjoner

Bjørn Marius Hegge Trio is a piano trio consisting of three young, fearless Norwegian improvisers. Hans Hulbækmo (Atomic, Skadedyr, Moskus), Oscar Grønberg (Team Hegdal, Trondheim Jazz Orchestra) and Bjørn Marius Hegge, working together on instant, in-the-moment and spontaneous making of music, the sound is edgy and laborious, inviting the listener to a focused atmosphere where both audience and musicians are part of an attentive process.

Nypan Trio - Life of Three

Nypan Trio was formed in Trondheim in 2011. Life of Three is following up the album 'Directions', which received good reviews in the media when it was released in 2015. The starting point for the music is in many ways in the tradition of organ giants like Jimmy Smith and Brother Jack McDuff and guitarist George Benson. At the same time, they have ambitions and abilities to move the music into the present. The music is unusually melodic and beautiful and has both a lot of straight jazz and soul in it. The original compositions is melodic, hard-swinging and full of soul.

MMO-Ensemble - Any Day Now

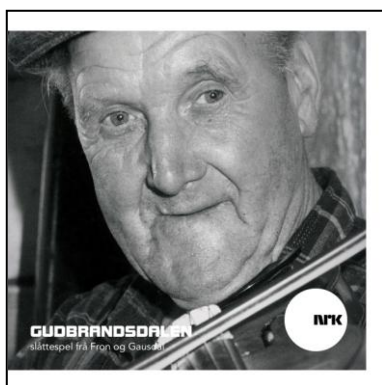

Composer and saxophonist Martin Myhre Olsen has brought together an amazing bunch from the progressive young jazz community in Norway and created the piece "Any Day Now", which was performed and recorded live from a concert at the Victoria National Jazz scene in Oslo on January 23, 2018. The many famous names in the ensemble help lift Olsen's open and airy orchestral music, but are not afraid of either tough riffs or intense vulnerability. It is tapped into the entire emotional register in a beautiful narrative, with intimate proximity and a personal expression through collages of texts and poems, free improvisations on the composite material.

New RELEASE June 8th

Silver Lining - Heart and Mind Alike (cd & vinyl)

This album is recorded in Velvet Recording with Lars Voldsdal and is mixed in Studio Paradiso by Marcus Forsgren. The first taste of the album is the single "Heart and Mind Alike" released on March 9th. The members of Silver Lining met with a mutual love of Gillian Welch and David Rawlings' music on a tribute night to their heroes. It soon became apparent that the voices of Stine Andreassen and Live Miranda Solberg (known as The Northern Belle and Louien, respectively) sounded exceptionally well and were able to create wonderful harmonies together.
